Annual Starving

"Something for everybody, artwork featuring animals, children, seascapes, landscapes, florals as well as the avante garde" is how San Dieguito Art Guild member Pat McCoury describes the organization's annual Starving Artists Show. The guild's biggest event, the show is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. outside the group's gallery at 1038-B N. Highway 101 in Leucadia.

Bargain hunters and art lovers alike will find reason to rejoice at the quality of the work and the eminently reasonable prices. Where else can you buy a matted original watercolor for as little as $5 these days? All paintings at the sale will be priced at $35 and below, excluding cost of the frame in some cases. Organizers estimate that frames and glass will add $7 to $15 to the price of some of the items.

Included in the sale will be works in oil, watercolor, acrylic, pen and ink, pastel and mixed media by 20 to 30 of the guild's 126 members.

The San Dieguito Art Guild began in 1969 in Del Mar. Since that time, its gallery has had several locations, but it has been at its current site on Highway 101 and Diana Street tucked behind Gallery 101 since 1975. Fifteen member artists rent space at the gallery and exhibit a variety of works in all media.

This show is in addition to the monthly membership show in the main gallery. Those who attend the Starving Artists Show are encouraged to visit the studios inside the gallery. A gourmet hot dog stand and cold drinks will also be part of the weekend event.

Artist of the month during September will be retiring president Elsie Goss, who will be showing her recent paintings of Indian pots and artifacts and who will be exhibiting in this weekend's show. She said she has been painting for more years than she cares to remember but said each year brings more satisfaction. She painted exclusively in oils until recently when she discovered watercolor and pastels.

Also taking part in the sale is Marge Lewis of Rancho Santa Fe who took up painting 15 years ago. She has studied with many local teachers and has gone to workshops with nationally known artists Ben Konis, George Kountouspis and Charles Movalli. She paints landscapes in oil and acrylic and also does portraits of people and animals in pastels, sometimes working from photographs.

Artist Betty Sturdevan moved to Olivenhain in 1932, graduated from San Dieguito High School and attended Art Center School in Los Angeles. She married a Marine and took art classes and workshops wherever her husband was stationed. Past president of the guild, she works in watercolor, oil, pastel and pen and ink. She is fond of landscapes and animals, especially cats.

Walking daily along the beach in Carlsbad, artist Pat McCoury said she derives much of her inspiration for subject matter from the gulls, people, boats, sea and sand.
