DOLORES FEAR-was in good company recently for the annual Career Fair held at Santa Fe Christian School, Solana Beach along with Dave Campbell, Padre annuancer, Steve Kelly, S D Union cartoonist, and 55 other professionals. Dolores has her studio in the west area of our gallery.

We have six new additions to our gallery and another is due by Dec. 20th. You bet! New OUTDOOR GALLERY SIGNS! The latest addition is a two-sided sandwich style sign that will be available to our GALLERY SITTERS! The sign is designed to ANNOUNCE YOU as the FEATURED ARTIST OF THE DAY!

To a long list of supporters I want to say thank you....for this project was really worth the time an effort. Donations have enabled our gallery to look much more attractive, easier to locate from the highway and hopefully will bring us some new customers. I appreciate all the patrons, friends, members who trustingly placed checks and cash in my hands. I will submit a complete report of funds received and donators in detail, all amounts spent and for not only the signs but all those extras we need for our Dec. Art Show. WE DID IT!

Offtrack Gallery Leucadia is also an artists' cooperative. It features original art and contemporary craft, including the work of potter Mike McClure, Oriental brush paintings by Nancy Rupp, Britta King's German folkart scissor cuttings called scherenschnitte. Blanchard's photographs, Nancy Gordon's porcelains, air brush art and clothing by Rosey Daley, handmade works by paper artist Lorraine Gibb, and weavings by Anki Vinberg. A member/artist is in the gallery each day and on the days when they aren't in the gallery, they work in their home studios, all of which are located within five miles of the gallery.

Many of the Offtrack Gallery member artists also share their artistic expertise in classes through local public schools, adult schools and community colleges. Teaching classes not only gives the artists a chance to "function as an integral and positive part of the community," it also helps them pay their bills, according to Nancy Gordon.

Like most artists who work and show in North County, Gordon agreed that North County is a wonderful place to live and work, but it is far from the best place to be if making money with your art is your top priority. Like other local artists, she says it's a constant struggle to "get people to see your work." Not to mention the next step, which is to buy it.

NOTE OF INTEREST: As mentioned earlier, Studio Renters are generously donating their hard cash to defray the cost of display newspaper advertising in the local papers. This is costly, and unfortunately the Guild does not have a budget for a publicity fund. Although our publicity chairwoman diligently requests printed notices in local papers...these papers don't always print them. With rapidly growing communities surrounding us we are finding a real need to be known. Plans are to establish an on-going fund for these special art shows-receptions. Fund raising is a pain in the palette - but if you'll help us out we'll get the ball rolling. Plans for a SALE- white elephant, yard, garage, rummage-what ever we'll call it is in progress. We'll need good used articles ... so don't give them away just yet. More later on the date. Thanks, The Editor

Like many North County artists. the five from the Carrousel started at the San Dieguito Art Guild. Tucked away behind a frame shop on Highway 101 in Leucadia, the San Dieguito Art Guild is the glue that has held much of the local art scene together for more than two decades. There are currently nearly 20 member artists in the guild, most of whom rent studio space from the guild. They share in running the gallery, which despite its half-dozen small rooms isn't large enough to house all the members' work.

Exhibits at the San Dieguito Art Guild are juried and change monthly. They feature original works in all media and in all styles, although there are probably more watercolors than anything else.

There are no prints or reproductions here but from time to time originals can be purchased for as little as a poster — especially when the guild has a "starving artists sale" in which nothing is priced over $35. Many members of the San Dieguito Art Guild display at other galleries and in other shows throughout San Diego County.

Guild members' efforts to increase public attendance at our MEMBERSHIP ART SHOW are seeing some noticeable results. Our last two RECEPTIONS December 8 and February 9 have gone very well. We have noticed many new faces, recognized several of our regular patrons, and heard many impressive comments about our shows. Many art sales have resulted from show entries, outside art displays, and individual studios. Our only regrets: heavy rains just prior to the Sunday, Feb. 9th reception. Although we had sunshine and clear skies for the show, several of our artists were missing due to illness. Most regretful, however, were the numerous (and usual) srtist's displays missin from the parking area. For the brave few who were able to set-up their displate thank you for your support. We hope everyone will be with us for our next art show reception on May 11th.

APRIL ART SHOW

ALL MEMBERS ARE INVITED AND ENCOURAGED TO PARTICIPATE IN THE MONTHLY "ART SHOWS" held in the main gallery. Although show entries are not "juried", awards are presented by qualified judges from outside our art community.

ART SHOW EXHIBITORS are requested to sign the gallery calendar to sit one day during the run of the show. Depending upon the number of show entrants, this time may actually average only 1/2 day.

EXHIBITORS reluctant to sit alone during gallery hours, may arrange with another Guild member to share sitting time. A relative or friend may also be willing to share sitting time. New members scheduled to sit for the first time are briefed by the gallery chairperson on sitting duties. STUDIO RENTERS are required to sit one full day each month. Should an emergency arise on the scheduled sitting day, please note that the sitter would be responsible to find his/her replacement. The gallery chairperson should be notified if changes are made in the calendar.
